Let's Start!

You must be boiling in that duffel coat!

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How often do you talk about fashion with friends?
- How do you decide what to wear every day?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about feelings and reactions.
- I can discuss jobs and work by talking about future action using if, when, before or after.
- I can show I understand someone's feelings or situation.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Sally talk about work. Who says "I wish I didn't* have to be managing people sometimes"?

* You use the Simple Past tense after "wish".

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: It's such a beautiful spring day! You must be freezing in that tank top, Sally!
- Sally: Ha, I'm good - you've got to be boiling in that duffel coat. It's really nice, though. I wish I had one, too.
- Vanessa: When I see one at the store, I'll call you! How's life at Cambridge Life?
- Sally: It's ok. I'm running out of material to blog about. After I get home tonight, I'll try and get creative.
- Vanessa: I'm sure it's hard to be creative on a daily basis.
- Sally: Aren't you tired of inventing new dishes every week? How's work, by the way?
- Vanessa: Work is good. I wish I didn't have to be managing people sometimes. They can be very difficult.
- Sally: That ought to be really stressful. You know, I could blog about your restaurant ... or about being a chef at a restaurant!
- Vanessa: Before I go in tomorrow, I'll send you a list of ideas to write about. You can bring them up with your boss.
- Sally: You don't have to do that ... I'm sure you're very busy!
- Vanessa: It's no problem at all. If you send me a text to remind me, I won't forget!

Let's Practice!

I wish I were* ...

*While in spoken English was often replaces were, it is more grammatically correct to use were after the verb wish.

Instructions: Read the sentences. Select the correct option to complete each sentence. Use: could, were, didn't have, had, weren't.

1. I wish I _____ a duffel coat too.    had / have / has
2. I wish I _____ to be managing people.    don't have / didn't have / have not
3. Sally wishes she _____ more creative.    were / is / be
4. Vanessa wishes she _____ so busy.    won't / isn't / weren't
5. Sally wishes she _____ have more time to write.    can't / could / will

Let's Practice!

Sally and Vanessa talk about their work. How do they feel about it?

Instructions: Match the responses to the situations on the left. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor. Model a conversation with your partner.

1. I have to manage 20 new employees.
2. I should have brought a sweater today.
3. Wow, it's really warm today.
4. Sally can't think of anything to blog about today.

That's okay. I'm sure you've been very busy.

I'm sure it's hard to be creative every day.

That ought to be really stressful.

You must be freezing in that tank top.

Extension Activity

Learning Points

Talking About the Future - If, When, Before and After

You use time clauses to give information about time and sequence.

You use the words If, When, Before and After in time clauses.

You use the first conditional with these time clauses.

The structure is:

If/When/Before/After + Subject + Simple Present tense, Subject + will + Simple Present tense

Before means at an earlier time.

After means at a later time.

Example:

Before I go to sleep, I'll set my alarm.

After I set my alarm, I'll go to sleep.

If means on the condition that ...

If I go to sleep, I'll set my alarm. (I'm not sure that I'll go to sleep.)

When means at the time of doing something.

When I go to bed, I'll set my alarm.

Examples:

- When I see one at the store, I'll call you!
- After I get home tonight, I'll try and get creative.
- Before I go in tomorrow, I'll send you a list of ideas to write about.
- If you send me a text to remind me, I won't forget!

Learning Points

Showing You Understand Someone's Feelings or Emotions

In conversation, it is natural to show that you understand someone's feelings and emotions. It helps to use different kinds of structures and expressions.

You can use the structures:

You ought to be/must be + adjective

It ought to be/must be + adjective

You've/It's got to be + adjective

I'm sure that's/you're + adjective

Aren't you + adjective?

You can also use these expressions:

I get it.

I know what you mean.

I hear you.

Examples:

- You must be freezing in that tank top, Sally!
- You've got to be boiling in that duffel coat.
- Aren't you tired of inventing new dishes every week?
