Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What do you think about the club scene in your country?
- If you don't like going to clubs, what do you like to do when you go out at night?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about connected events in the future using if, when, before or after.
- I can ask for clarification.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa tells Sally all about Shimmer. Why did the bar make great money?

* To "make great money" means to make a lot of money.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Here's your coffee. What were the people at Shimmer like?
Vanessa: They all seemed really cool. They were well-dressed, for the most part. There were a few who seemed a little too excited ... if you know what I mean.
- Sally: Uh, could you tell me what you mean by that?
Vanessa: Let's just say the bar made great money!
Sally: What about Peter? How was he?
Vanessa: He seemed to be having a great time! I think his job is stressing him out ... He needs nights like these to unwind.
- Sally: For sure! If he asks you again, are you going to go?
Vanessa: I don't know if I should if I want to meet someone new. What do you think?
Sally: Hm, good point. Can you remind me where the club is? I'm thinking about blogging about it. Before I do, I'm going to do some research online.
- Vanessa: It's on Garden Street, near Dance Freedom. Before you blog about it, I'll send you some pictures from tonight.
- Sally: When I get them, I'll call you if I have any questions.
Vanessa: One thing I really liked about Shimmer is that they have a huge disco ball and an amazing laser show. There were also go-go dancers upstairs!

Let's Practice!

- What do you mean by that?

Learning Points

Using If, When, Before and After to Talk About the Future

You use time clauses to give information about time and sequence.

You use the words If, When, Before and After in time clauses.

You use the first conditional with these time clauses.

If/When/Before/After + Subject + Simple Present tense, Subject + will/be going to + Simple Present tense

Before means at an earlier time.

After means at a later time.

Before I go to sleep, I'll set my alarm.

After I set my alarm, I'm going to go to sleep.

If means on the condition that ...

If I go to sleep, I'll set my alarm. (I'm not sure that I'll go to sleep.)

When means at the time of doing something.

When I go to bed, I'll set my alarm.

Examples:

- Before I do, I'm going to do some research.
- Before you blog about it, I'll send you pictures.
- If he asks you again, are you going to go?
- When I get the pictures, I'll call you if I have any questions.

Learning Points

Asking for Clarification

You ask for clarification when you want more details on what the other person is talking about.

You ask for clarification when it is not clear what the other person is referring to. You ask the other person to be more specific by giving you more information.

Questions within sentences are called embedded questions.

An embedded question is a question included in another question or statement.

Example:

Simple question: What are you going to do after dinner?

Embedded question: Do you know what you're going to do after dinner?

Embedded questions are usually used to make your question or comment sound softer or more polite.

Examples:

- Could you tell me what you mean by that?
- Can you remind me where the club is?
