Let's Start!

Which sign represents me?

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever heard of the Chinese zodiac?
- If you could see any art exhibition, past or present, which artist would you want to see? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about feelings and impressions.
- I can express complex statements using words like who, that or which.
- I can talk about connected events in the future using if, when, before or after.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Sally view the Ai Wei Wei exhibit. What seems to sparkle?

* You use the phrase "seem + infinitive or adjective" when you talk about an impression you get from someone or something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: So, this exhibit is called "Circle of Animals/Zodiac Heads: Gold". Isn't it just breathtaking?
- Sally: Wow! There is a bronze sculpture for each animal of the zodiac. They are so detailed. It says here that they are inspired by sculptures from the Qing dynasty.
- Vanessa: Ai Wei Wei is an artist who is also considered to be an activist. His art is a commentary about what is going on in China and other parts of the world.
- Sally: So, I was born in 1990. This is the sign which represents me, no?
- Vanessa: The year of the horse? I think so. There are certain attributes that people associate with each sign, you know.
- Sally: Oh? I wonder what my attributes are. I'll do some research about it when I get home.
- Vanessa: Before you do that, let's try to guess!
- Sally: I don't know about that ... The colors are so vibrant! They seem to sparkle under the light!
- Vanessa: I love his use of bronze ... It has such a dramatic tone to it.
- Sally: If they have a miniature horse sculpture in the gift shop, I'm going to buy it!
- Vanessa: After this, are we going to go for lunch?
- Sally: Yes, I made reservations.

Let's Practice!

Subject and Object Relative Clauses

When you want to clarify which person or thing you are talking about, you use a relative clause.

You can begin a relative clause with who for people, which for things or that for either people or things.

In spoken English you usually use that, rather than which or who.

You put the relative clause immediately after the noun it talks about.

A subject relative clause describes the subject of the clause.

Example:

The man who/that called wanted to speak to Tom.

Which man? The man who called.

The clause who called immediately follows man - the noun it describes.

An object relative clause describes the object of the clause.

Example:

The book which/that I lent you was my father's.

Which book? The book I lent you.

Example	Clause	Relative Connector	Type of Relative Clause
Ai Wei Wei is an artist who is also considered to be an activist.	who is considered to be an activist	who	subject
This is the sign which represents me, no?	which represents me	which	subject
There are certain attributes that people associate with each sign.	that people associate with each sign	that	object

Learning Points

Talking About the Future - If, When, Before and After

You use time clauses to give information about time and sequence.

You use the words If, When, Before and After in time clauses.

You use the first conditional with these time clauses.

If/When/Before/After + Subject + Simple Present tense, Subject + will/be going to + Simple Present tense

Before means at an earlier time.

After means at a later time.

Before I go to sleep, I'll set my alarm.

After I set my alarm, I'm going to go to sleep.

If means on the condition that ...

If I go to sleep, I'll set my alarm. (I'm not sure that I'll go to sleep.)

When means at the time of doing something.

When I go to bed, I'll set my alarm.

Examples:

- I'll do some research about it when I get home.
- Before you do that, let's try to guess!
- If they have a miniature horse sculpture in the gift shop, I'm going to buy it!
- After this, are we going to go for lunch?
