

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- If you could go anywhere in the world, where would you go? Why?
- If you had three wishes, what would you wish for?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about hypothetical situations using if, when, before or after.
- I can express complex statements using words like who, that or which.
- I can show I understand someone's feelings or situation.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Sally talk about the good day they had. What do they wish?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: What a day! The exhibition which we saw was enlightening, right Sal?
- Sally: Yes, I already started blogging about Ai Wei Wei. I wish I had my camera, though. If I had pictures, I could post them too. Next time, before we go, I'll pack my camera in my bag.
- Vanessa: Did you do some reading about your zodiac sign? You must be curious to find out what the horse's attributes are.
- Sally: I'll do it after you leave. I'll do a little research before I go to bed.
- Vanessa: If you find anything interesting, will you let me know?
- Sally: For sure! Our picnic was a lot of fun, too. The park that we went to was so grassy and the air was so crisp ... I wish we could do that every day!
- Vanessa: How are you going to react when you see your boss on Monday?
- Sally: I can hack it. Not a problem. I'll just pretend I didn't see her at the park. You must be exhausted after all that dancing tonight. If you went again, you should take some foldable flats, for sure.
- Vanessa: Yeah. I wish I could dance as well as the go-go dancers at Shimmer. Their outfits were so dramatic and vibrant.

Let's Practice!

Can you tell me which one?

Instructions: Underline the relative clause in each sentence. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. The exhibition which we saw was enlightening, right Sal?
2. The park that we went to was so grassy and the air was so crisp.
3. The people who I saw in the club were great dancers.
4. I saw the vibrant costumes which the dancers wore.
5. I went with the friend who I met at work.

Let's Practice!

Sally talks about what could happen in the future.

Instructions: Read the sentences. Choose words from the box to correctly complete the sentences. Read the sentences aloud. Compare yourself to a partner.

I'll post them too.

won't you let me know

will you let me know

I'll do a little research

before we go

I could post them, too

when you see your boss on Monday

1. If I had pictures, _____.
2. Next time, _____, I'll pack my camera in my bag.
3. _____ before I go to bed.
4. If you find anything interesting, _____?
5. How are you going to react _____?

Extension Activity

Try to guess how someone is feeling.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Take turns with a partner acting out the following feelings and situations: angry, hungry, sad, excited, frustrated, scared.
- You can talk but don't say the adjective.
- Watch your partner act and try to guess how he or she feels.
- Use a statement to express how you think your partner is feeling.
- Act out some other feelings that you think of.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about hypothetical situations.

☐ ☐

I express complex statements.

☐ ☐

I show I understand someone's feelings or situation.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- enlightening (adjective): giving someone knowledge
e.g. The exhibition which we saw was enlightening.
- zodiac (noun): a repeating cycle of 12 years, with each year being represented by an animal and its attributes
e.g. Did you do some reading about your zodiac sign?
- attribute (noun): feature
e.g. You must be curious to find out what the horse's attributes are.
- dramatic (adjective): impressive; spectacular
e.g. Their outfits were so dramatic.
- vibrant (adjective): lively; colorful; bright e.g. The colors were very vibrant.
- crisp (adjective): cool; fresh; invigorating (when talking about the weather)
e.g. The air was so crisp.
- grassy (adjective): covered with grass
e.g. The park was so grassy.
- go-go dancer (noun): a dancer who entertains crowds at nightclubs
e.g. I wish could dance as well as the go-go dancers.

Learning Points

Subject and Object Relative Clauses

When you want to clarify which person or thing you are talking about, you use a relative clause.

You can begin a relative clause with who for people, which for things or that for either people or things.

In spoken English you usually use that, rather than which or who.

You put the relative clause immediately after the noun it talks about.

A subject relative clause describes the subject of the clause.

Example:

The man who/that called wanted to speak to Tom.

Which man? The man who called.

The clause who called immediately follows man - the noun it describes.

An object relative clause describes the object of the clause.

Example:

The book which/that I lent you was my father's.

Which book? The book I lent you.

Native speakers of English often omit the pronoun in object clauses.

For example:

The book I lent you was my father's.

The exhibition we saw was enlightening.

Examples:

- The exhibition which we saw was enlightening, right Sal?
- The park that we went to was so grassy.

Learning Points

Talking About Hypothetical Situations and Wishes

You use the second conditional to talk about unreal or imaginary (hypothetical) situations in the present or future.

You use a similar structure to talk about wishes.

For example:

If I had a million dollars, I would buy a car.

Do you have a million dollars? No.

Is it possible to suddenly get a million dollars? Not really.

What would you do if you had a million dollars? Buy a car.

You use: If + the Simple Past verb ... + would/could

If	Condition	Result
If	I married Peter,	I would be happy.
If	I exercised more,	I could be in better shape.
If	I were you,	I would be jumping up and down.

You can also reverse the clauses:

I would be out more if I were you.

Notice that there is no comma when the result clause comes first.

Remember to use a comma (,) after the If clause.

In conversation, it is common to use contractions. (I would = I'd)

You use a similar structure to talk about wishes.

Subject + wish + Simple Past tense

I wish I had my camera.

I wish we could do that every day.

I wish I could dance as well as the go-go dancers.

